FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1914

Senator Pomerene is planning to make several speeches in Ohio the last of this month, whether congress adjourns or not.

Indications are that the wet and dry question will far overshadow every other issue in Ohio during the campaign now on.

Ohio political press bureaus are busy these days, and if the papers saw fit to publish all the stuff any one of them sends out there would be little room left for anything else.

The Giddings Republican Club will hold its annual banquet in Warren next Saturday night. Prominent members of the G. O. P. have been secured to speak and a great love feast is expected.

The personal liberty advocates are the first to begin circulating their printed matter in Ohio. Thousands of booklets presenting the wet argument for the open saloon are being scattered over the state.

There are indications that King Emanuel of Italy will declare war and take side with the allies. The trouble comes about by reason of Austria's act in placing mines in the Adriatic, which have wrought havoc among Italy's fishing fleets.

Col. W. J. Bryan has signified his intention of coming to Ohio this month to make several speeches in the campaign for the re-election of Gov. Cox. He will make his tour in a special train in order to cover as much territory in a short time as possible.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman of New York, who spent his youthful days in Canfield, was this week nominated for governor by the republicans of New York state. He showed great strength in all parts of the state, having a comfortable majority over two opponents. Indications strongly point to his election, and that would be most pleasing to a host of his old friends in Mahoning county.

Formal announcement was made last week by Secretary W. J. Bryan that there would be no postponement of the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco next year, and that no foreign nation had given notice of its intention to withdraw from participation on account of the European war. The exposition is scheduled to open Feb. 15, 1915, and plans have been made to make it the greatest show of the kind the world has ever seen.

IS IT PASSING?

Alcohol is passing it has run counter to industry and industry has decreed its end. This is the statement of Lewis Edwin Theils, in The Outlook, after an extensive investigation among the great manufacturing plants of the east. Industry means to eliminate the saloon, he says, because the manufacturers have learned that drink decreases efficiency, and is responsible for the greater part of the accidents.

YOUNGSTOWN

Fred M. Sayre, of Columbus, auditor of Franklin county, was indicted upon the charge of blackmail today by the grand jury. The alleged act of blackmail was the sending of a letter to David Tod, of Youngstown, then candidate for the republican nomination for governor, stating that unless Tod withdrew his statement that Sayre had demanded $5,000 for campaign expenses in Franklin county, he, Sayre, would begin proceedings of criminal libel. During the campaign for the republican nomination for governor, Sayre caused the arrest of Tod on a charge of supplying false information to a newspaper. Tod stood trial and was acquitted by a jury in a Columbus court.

City officials are taking possession of their quarters in the new city building at the corner of Phelps and Boardman streets.

The grand jury which reported Tuesday investigated 71 cases and returned 49 indictments, covering four first degree murder cases and other crimes. The jury is still in session considering the Frank Callahan lease of property to the McElroy Co. in which Judge Barnum admits he figured in a business way. The investigation is being conducted by attorney C. A. Manchester, who was appointed by Judge Anderson.

Attorney H. C. Hoffman says he has been urged by prominent republicans to withdraw from the progressive ticket on which he is a candidate for state senator. He declares, however, that he is in the race to stay, and he thinks he has a good chance of winning as he is a pronounced dry man.

Edward Steller, 24 years old, dependent because of poor health, committed suicide Monday by hanging himself.

Attorney J. V. Murphy's in Columbus determined if possible to induce secretary of state Graves to permit his name to appear upon the progressive ballot at the coming election. Mr. Murphy is a candidate for justice of the supreme court.

Registration days are Oct. 1, 8, 16 and 17.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. will pay its employees no bonus next year.

The Carnegie Steel Co. has posted notices at its plant notifying employees that the schedule fixing wages will terminate the last of this year. This is interpreted to mean that lower pay may be expected.

The Significant "if."

Three scientific men from an Eastern college visited a certain Montana mine. On the ascent by means of the usual bucket one professor thought he perceived signs of weakness in the rope by which the bucket was suspended. "How often," he inquired of the attendant, "do you change these ropes?"

"Every three months," carelessly replied the other. Then he added thoughtfully, "This must have been forgotten. We must change it to-day if we get up."—Christian Register.

ALL HAD TROUBLE WITH LAW

Chaucer, Bunyan, Dante, and Shakespeare Among Great Writers Who Suffered Persecution.

The first great figure of modern English literature, Geoffrey Chaucer, remarks a writer in Case and Comment, the lawyers' magazine, was hounded from pillar to post by his creditors. So persistent were they that the king of England in response to a petition took Chaucer under his special protection and forbade that he should be arrested or sued by any body except on a plea connected with land for two years.

The imperishable allegory on which Bunyan's claim to immortality chiefly rests, "Pilgrim's Progress," was at least concocted in jail, and probably the "Abounding" "Holy City," "Resurrection of the Dead," together with other treatises and tracts, were also composed in the "den" where he languished 12 years. He obtained his full release through the intervention of the Quakers and his name is included in the "general pardon" passed by the king in council in behalf of the prisoners of that persuasion bearing date September 13, 1672. Bunyan will perhaps always hold rank as one of the first among religious writers in the English language.

Accused on the strength of a forged document, and even while he was ambassador to Boniface VIII, of extorting money, the poet Dante was sentenced to make pecuniary reparation and to two years' banishment. His house was given up to pillage and his lands devastated. Three months afterward, he having neither paid the fine nor sought to justify himself, his enemies condemned him to be burned to death. Then began for Dante the "hell of exile."

Everybody has heard of Shakespeare's poaching adventures—how as a consequence of a charge of stealing deer in Sir Thomas Lucy's park he was obliged to leave his business and shelter himself in London.

Like a harbor of safety

Man Who Reaches the Age of Thirty May Congratulate Himself on Many Things.

A medical lecturer recently declared that in many ways thirty is the critical age in the average man's life. Once you reach thirty you have outgrown many serious diseases. On the other hand, you become liable to many others that seldom or never attack people in the teens or twenties.

Anemia, for instance, is practically unknown after thirty. If you have not had it by then you never will. If you have, you will have outgrown it at thirty or so. Acne, too—that spots of complexion so common among young people, is certain to have vanished by then.

Thirty, too, sees you out of the reach of the gravest of all diseases, consumption. If you have shown no sign of it by then in all probability you never will. If you have hitherto escaped rheumatic fever, too, you are fairly safe from it for life. Epilepsy, and gotter, too, never make their first attacks on anyone who has reached thirty.

Bank Notes Made of Silk.

Bank notes made of silk of a particular shade that will battle the bacteria forger are now possible. As is known, most of the expert bank-note forgers use photography to obtain their best results; but a recent invention makes it possible to manufacture silk of a particular shade that cannot possibly be photographed.

Discovered by a woman, this invention is a new process for waterproofing fabrics without rubber and dyeing them in the same operation. Linen, cotton or other materials to be treated by this process are placed white into one end of the machine and brought out at the other end a few minutes later colored, waterproofed and dry. Fabrics so produced, the inventor maintains, can be used in hundreds of trades, from aeroplane building to bank-note making.

Reciprocity.

With a feeling of sadness for the recipient, Dorothy finally concluded to pen a missive to her former fiancée, "Dear Harold," it read. "No doubt you are aware that I am to marry Mr. Anthony the coming month. I shall, therefore, appreciate it very much if you will burn all the little notes I sent you, assuring you of reciprocity in regard to those you sent me. Dorothy Bell."

Immediately upon receipt of above the young man made this reply: "Dear Dorothy: I shall certainly comply with your request, and at once. And, incidentally, as your new fiancée also holds a few notes of mine, I shall count it a great favor should you be able to induce him to burn them with the rest. Harold Sawyer."

She Took Exceptions.

A woman was excluded from a church in England because she sang like a frog and spoke the responses in what she called the "Protestant voice."

An English paper recalls in connection with the incident the story of Elizabeth Fry, the Quakeress, who was once "testifying" as Quakers allow women to do, until she came to the lines in I Corinthians where the apostle says, "Let your women keep silence in the churches." She closed the book and said in a firm, clear voice, "On this point St. Paul and I are at issue."

Dizzy Head, Fluttering Heart, Floating Specks.

These are signs of kidney and bladder trouble. You'll have headaches, too, backaches and be tired all over. Don't wait longer, but take Foley Kidney Pills at once. Your miserable sick feeling will be gone. You will sleep well, eat well and grow strong and active again. Try them. F. A. Morris, Canfield—Adv.

THRIFT

Thrift consists of four elements. The first is industry which enables a person to earn money. The second is frudence which plans what one shall do with his money when he has earned it. The third is economy which sees that full value is received for every dollar that is expended, and the fourth is frugality which impels one to save a part of his money for future uses.

These four elements exist to some degree in every normal human mind. To aid in their proper development is one of the duties of
